ABOUT

Digital.CigarJournal.com is a clone of the printed magazine, prepared for all digital devices — from desktop computers to smartphones and fully interactive. We can easily divert our readers to your website, promotional videos, and social media channels.

It is published at the same time as the print edition, but in four world languages: English, Spanish, German, and simplified Chinese. Subscribers can select their preferred language at any time.

Readers can access both the current issue as well as all available back issues with the click of a mouse. So, the respective archive is available at any time.

Digital.CigarJournal.com is the most advanced digital publication in the cigar world.
